TeamView allows project management to be team based and facilitate visibility across the entire project lifecycle from Project initiation to project closure. TeamView is a powerful mobile-friendly and cross platform project management system. ProjectView is designed for mobile project management, while TeamView is designed for the web. TeamView does not allow a project to be created or managed without a context. This means that when you download or access the application, the current project you are working on is the first item you'll see. This feature is similar to the way Dropbox operates. ProjectView has some extra special features, including a detailed Calendar that can be used to coordinate tasks across a project and project members. TeamView's feature set includes online and offline access to all data, quick search, detailed project reports and print layouts. TeamView consists of 5 main screens: General, Projects, Tasks, Calendar, and Reports When a project is created and saved, it is automatically added to a "My Projects" list. Added in version 1.2.3 is the ability to select a context when the app is downloaded. This allows you to be able to see only those projects that you are working with. This version also introduces the ability to add projects to the "My Projects" list. Added in v1.2.5 is the ability to select a context when the app is downloaded. This allows you to be able to see only those projects that you are working with. Also it introduces the ability to add projects to the "My Projects" list. TeamView application is designed to offer simple project management With TeamView, project management can be simpler with a new fresh approach TeamView is a simple, yet powerful project management software solution in the market today. It enables users to do just one thing: quickly and easily view their projects. It is especially made for mobile. That's why it can be accessed from anywhere. You can even use TeamView from your smartphone or iPad in an offline mode to keep your tasks and details about a project just on your device. Keep track of all projects for your team in one place TeamView makes it easy to manage the projects you have in your own unique way. You can create your own list of projects in the list of "My Projects".
