KDE has released version 5.44 of the KDE multimedia applications with lots of new features: - Rumble - A library that can be used for real time audio processing. Audio, Music and Player now have the same look and feel. - Plasma Workspace New Look - The Plasma workspace is now more compact. With the new look, there are more menus and more work spaces available. - Kdenlive Video Editor - Work with video in a new, cross-platform way. A wide variety of new features and bug fixes makes Kdenlive the best video editor on Linux For more information see the release notes: Kdenlive 5.44.1 Available on Kdenlive Artpage Linux Forum: Have it.... Today! It is your lucky day. I am a Commercial freelancer, so there is no set time for me when I create items. Payment is upon completion and final approval of job. The faster you do it the less you'll pay. If you purchase an updated version and you have not yet completed the job as listed, I will then require a copy of the previous version and the new version in order to calculate the price. I can only accept payment via Paypal, which is the easiest method to use and not subject to fees or non-refundable regardless of why the job was not completed. If you are only interested in a template then please note, I do not create templates. If you are looking for a creative package feel free to check out my work but keep in mind not all templates are created equal. For your convenience, I am not accepting credit card payments. In addition to my work, I am also working on a 'Real Manual Method' that can be self-published through Scribd with a PDF companion site. For more information, click the link below. If you would like
